The programme

It's showtime in Hammersmith & Fulham after the borough won the 'Cultural Impact' prize at the prestigious London Borough of Culture awards last year.

The £200,000 award from the Mayor of London's office is being used to kickstart a new 10-year arts programme to develop the next generation of stars from our talented pool of local young musicians. But that's not all, it will also provide more opportunities for all residents, regardless of their background, to get involved in the arts.

The 'Sounds like Hammersmith & Fulham' programme will build on the borough's already booming arts and culture scene thanks to the success of our Arts Strategy \(pdf 627KB\) and Industrial Strategy \(pdf 2.6MB\) as H&F fast becomes the best place to live, work and play in Europe.

Image 1: Join us as we celebrate Women's History Month in Hammersmith & Fulham - a borough like no other.

Welcome to Women's History Month 2023

Please join us in paying tribute to the women who have helped shape Hammersmith & Fulham as we mark Women's History Month.

There are dozens of events taking place across the borough - many of which are free to attend. They will honour the many women who came before us, ranging from historical figures such as Fanny Eaton, Esther Bruce and Edmonia Lewis to the women making our borough an amazing place to live, work and visit today.

THREE SISTERS

Following a critically acclaimed West End Season at the Theatre Royal Haymarket last year, with their productions of Uncle Vanya and Life & Fate (Critics Choice The Guardian, Financial Times, Telegraph, Sunday Times), the Maly Drama Theatre of St. Petersburg returns to the West End with this luminous retelling of Chekhov's masterpiece, Three Sisters.

Rediscover the tragicomic story of the Prozorov sisters as they contend with their disillusioned lives in a provincial Russian town. Renowned director Lev Dodin directs this radiant, complex play with rich insight into Chekhov's eloquent understanding of resignation, longing, and love.

Under the artistic directorship of Lev Dodin – one of the most celebrated theatre practitioners working today – the Maly Drama Theatre of St. Petersburg has become one of the greatest theatres in the world. During his 35-year tenure many of Dodin's shows have won international awards including state prizes of Russian and the USSR, Golden Mask Awards and a Laurence Olivier Award (becoming the first international company to do so for Stars in the Morning Sky, 1989). In 2000 he received the European Theatre Award.

Season supported by Roman Abramovich.

Performed in Russian with English surtitles. Please be advised that this production contains the smoking of cigarettes.

The role of Masha will be played by Ksenia Rappoport (19-23 June) and by Elizaveta Boyarskaya (25-29 June).

Three Sisters

Why Watch Three Sisters

Since its inception in 1944 in Leningrad, the Maly Drama Theatre has consistently impressed audiences across the world with their textbook acting precision and class. The company has scored various awards including an Olivier Award, the European Theatre Prize, and the Golden Mask. Consequently, in 1998, the Maly Drama Theatre was bestowed the rare honor of being given the title 'Theatre of Europe'.

This production of Three Sisters is sewn together by seasoned director Lev Dodin, who has served as the artistic director of the company since 1982. In fact, it was Dodin's 1998 Stars in the Morning Sky that won him a Laurence Olivier Award for Outstanding Achievement. Known for his ability to seamlessly portray a wide range of emotions through his direction, Lev Dodin returns to the London Stage to present his masterpiece, The Three Sisters.
